Subject: Comments: proposed temporary election rule

New Rule 2.10.4(A) states an elector ~~and a county clerk and recorder~~ MUST consider the following factors in determining the electors primary residence. Of course, in any given situation a clerk would look to the factors stated in statute to assist an elector in determining their primary elector. What mechanisms are in place, whereas a county clerk MUST know the factors of each elector in determining their primary residence. As this is written, it appears the clerk is equally responsible and liable for determining each factor of and for every elector.
