Good Afternoon,

I would suggest an addition to the rules drafted that would outline the security procedures at the State Capitol giving entry to professional lobbyists who pass a background check, that is paid for by a fee from them to enter the building without the security hassle. There are new interns every year, new faces that do not have the tenure as many of us who work in the building. It would be completely optional for people but to not have to wait behind school groups etc when you are trying to go to work can be frustrating.

It would be my only suggestion at this time.

Thanks!
