Dear Secretary Gessler:

I have reviewed all of the comments received by your office up to this afternoon and echo the excellent points made by so many of we small counties that use the Hart system, particularly the concern that we might be required to buy BOSS licenses in order to enter a few passwords.

One point I did not see mentioned, however, is on page 7 of 7 - 20.17.6 (E). While the Hart system requires judge intervention to accept a ballot that was rejected by the scanner, there is a button, not a key. Are you asking that some key mechanism be installed in place of the button?

Sincerely,
M. Kathleen Erie
