As a licensed Real Estate Broker for 30 years and a Commissioned Notary Public for many of those years I can tell you that the requirement to re-test Commissioned Notaries to renew their Commissions would be of no value either to the public or to the notaries. Just as I think all the 'continuing education' and testing of Real Estate Brokers benefits no one but the schools selling this 'training'. It's a waste of time, a boondoggle, and nothing but a scheme by those in the business of selling courses and testing to make money.
