Thank you for the opportunity to comments on proposed notary rules. I have read all of the comments my fellow notaries have submitted, and it looks like there is an overwhelming objection to the proposed requirement that notary renewal would require re-taking a course and passing a test. I agree with that objection.

I became a notary to offer the service free of charge and as a convenience to neighbors, friends and local organizations. I am not called on often, so I do a quick review of my study materials before I provide the service.

I would like to suggest that the SOS periodically as needed remind us of updates and if notaries have faced complications, let us know what they were and how they were solved.
