I agree on most of the proposed new rules and procedures because of the amount of deceit and fraud that takes place. The time between training and information relayed to notaries is few and far between. I check it the website for any questions that arise, however I do not believe that others do. When I worked in the school office, I would refuse to notarize documents because the Identification was from another country and they would bring it back after finding someone who would regardless. Thank you for asking for our impute on new rules.

Sincerely,
Mia Yamaguchi
