I disagree that every notary will need to attend a seminar to renew. Those of us who have been a notary for YEARS, understand what is required.

I understand there are changes in the law and in lieu of attending a seminar, I agree that an established notary can renew by "Acknowledging having read" any updates via email is all that should be required.

I agree that the employer who has the registry for all notary activities by notaries employed by them should be held accountable.

Thanks for the opportunity to reply.
